Table set at Ney for POW/MIA

Today is National POW/MIA Recognition Day on the theme, "The Cost of Freedom," and this year the Naval Academy Preparatory School (NAPS) will explain the symbolism of a small empty POW/MIA table at the Ney Hall galley at noon.

This table occupies a place of dignity and honor near the head table. It is set for one, symbolizing the fact that members of the armed forces are missing from our ranks.

The table symbolizes the frailty of one prisoner, alone against his or her suppressors.

The tablecloth is white, symbolic of the purity of their intentions to respond to their country's call to arms.

The single red rose in the vase, signifies the blood they may have shed in sacrifice to ensure the freedom of our beloved United States of America.

The yellow ribbon on the vase represents the yellow ribbons worn on the lapels of the thousands who demand with unyielding determination a proper accounting of our comrades who are not among us today.

A slice of lemon on the plate reminds us of their bitter fate.

The salt sprinkled on the plate reminds us of the countless fallen tears of the families as they wait.

The glass is inverted. They cannot toast with us this day.

The chair is empty; they are not here.

The candle is reminiscent of the light of hope which lives in our hearts to illuminate their way home, away from their captors, to the open arms of a grateful nation.

WELCOME HOME — Family members wave from Pier 2, Naval Station Newport, as the Coast Guard cutter Willow (WLB-202) returns last Monday after 45 days underway to northern Canada and the Arctic.

USCG cutter Willow home from joint Canada exercise

By ENSIGN RACHEL POST

USCG cutter Willow PAO

The Coast Guard cutter Willow (WLB 202) pulled back alongside Pier 2 last Monday after departing Newport on July 28 to participate in Joint Operation Nanook 11 (OP NANOOK 11).

OP NANOOK 11 was conducted by Canada Command, with assistance from Joint Task Force North (JTFN), to sharpen Canadian forces capabilities in the north.

The first part of the operation involved sovereignty and presence patrolling by the Canadian forces in the air, on land and at sea. It also included partners from the United States and Denmark. The second part was an exercise in response to a simulated major air disaster and a simulated maritime emergency exercise.

The Willow steamed with the Canadian and Danish navies in several exercises including an air defense exercise involving CF-18s, an explosive exercise and a counter exercise where the Danish navy had to search and find the Willow and the HMCS Summerside (the Willow's Canadian navy counterpart during that part of their underway).

Shortly after finishing up with the operation, the Willow joined up with the Danish vessel HMDS Ejnar Mikkelsen, and traveled north through Nare Strait to within 25 nautical miles south of the Petermann Glacier, Greenland, before the ice cap halted their voyage.

The latitude reached was the farthest point north ever reached by any non-polar ice breaker in the U. S. Coast Guard.

Following that northern journey, Willow headed south to Thule Air Force Base in Greenland, and participated in a medical evacuation (MEDEVAC) exercise with the HMDS Ejnar Mikkelsen and the air force. Following that exercise the buoy tender continued south to Island Command Greenland in Gronnedal.

Willow then departed to the Flemish Cap and participated in two Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Organization Inspections. For the first time these inspections were based from a U. S. Coast Guard vessel.

Stand Down RI reaches out to needy veterans

CUMBERLAND — Each year various social service organizations and many veterans outreach groups organize and Operation Stand Down event in Rhode Island. This will be the 18th year this event is held beginning today through Sunday at Diamond Hill Park in Cumberland.

This is a free event open to all homeless or needy veterans who need help finding essential services to overcome personal, social and economic problems. Fallen R.I. Soldiers to earn tribute at Garden of Heroes

PROVIDENCE — The late Army Sgt. Michael E. Paranzino and R.I. Army National Guard Spc. Dennis C. Poulin will be honored tomorrow, Saturday, at 11 a.m. at the Garden of Heroes remembrance ceremony on the southwest lawn of the Rhode Island State House.

This garden was officially named "The Garden of Heroes" through legislation introduced at the request of Lt. Gov. Charles J. Fogarty, and sponsored by Senate Majority Leader M. Teresa Paiva-Weed and House Majority Leader Gordon D. Fox.

The legislation was signed into law June 22, 2004, by then Gov. Donald L. Carcieri. Lt. Governor Elizabeth Roberts has pledged her commitment to the continued care and support of the Garden.

On Oct. 23, 2005, the garden was officially dedicated to "Rhode Island Service Members who made the ultimate sacrifice during operations in support of the Global War on terrorism since September 11, 2001."

On that day, 14 service members were honored. As of last June, the memorial stone bears the names of 22 service members.

Lt. j.g. Francis L. Toner IV, USN; Lance Cpl. Matthew Serio, USMC; Lance Cpl. John J. Van Gyzen IV, USMC; Lance Cpl. Holly A. Charette, USMC; Sgt. Brian R. St. Germain, USMC; Pfc. Kyle J. Coutu, USMC and Port Security 3rd Class Ronald A. Gill, Jr. U.S. Coast Guard are the seven members of the sea services whose names appear on the stone. The ceremony is open to all.

Paranzino, a Middletown native, died last Nov. 5 while assigned to 1st Squadron, 71st Cavalry Regiment, 1st Brigade Combat Team, 10th Mountain Division, Fort Drum N.Y. He lost his life in Kandahar, Afghanistan, of wounds suffered when insurgents attacked his unit with an improvised explosive device.

Plans are underway with the U.S. Army reserves to dedicate the recently completed U.S. Army Reserve Center on Simon-pietri Drive in his honor.

Poulin, a Cumberland native, died last March 31 from injuries sustained during a non-hostile incident in Tsowkey District, Konar Province, Afghanistan. He was a member of the Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 181st Infantry Regiment, Massachusetts National Guard.

COOL team pays visit

Navy's newest certification program introduced across Northeast region

By ED BARKER

Naval Education and Training
Command Public Affairs

BOSTON — Sailors assigned to the Navy's oldest commissioned warship, the frigate USS Constitution, were visited Sept. 1 by a briefing team representing the Navy's newest certification program.

Navy Credentialing Opportunities Online (COOL) offers Sailors in every rating the opportunity to obtain credentials, including certifications, licenses and apprenticeships.

"Even as far back as 1797 when the Constitution was commissioned, qualifications for Sailors were extremely important," said Lt. Cmdr. Stephen Shirley, executive officer of "Old Ironsides" in Charlestown Harbor. "Navy COOL allows our Sailors who are steeped in the traditions and beginnings of our Navy to qualify for the credentials of the 21st century."

The Navy COOL briefing team's New England trip included visits to Groton, Conn.; Newport, R.I.; Portsmouth, N.H., and Boston. According to Bruce Alberque, Navy COOL management analyst, "Old Ironsides" presented a unique opportunity.

"The blend of past and present found on the Constitution cannot be seen anywhere else in the Navy," said Alberque. "Introducing Navy COOL to crewmembers on the deck of a 214-year-old ship using a laptop with wireless connectivity really brings home how far we've come."

Warfighting School graduates 32 in War College ceremonies

By JAMES E. BROOKS
NWC Public Affairs Staff

The Naval War College held a graduation ceremony for 32 students who completed Maritime Advanced Warfighting School (MAWS) Sept. 8.

MAWS provides midgrade military officers with warfare planning techniques, extensive leadership and advanced warfighting skills that prepare graduates for more challenging assignments in warfighting commands.

MAWS Director, Capt. Pat Molenda, said specialized education at the Naval War College allows graduates to immediately step into critical warfare operation planner assignments.

"There are approximately 160 such specially-designated billets on operational staffs," Molenda said. "Today, the Navy's numbered fleet commanders and other joint warfare commands need experienced officers who are skilled in operational planning. Our graduates are taught how to apply maritime power and resources effectively. These skills are essential in a complex and fast-changing environment. MAWS provides an educational foundation where practical experience will build upon."

MAWS is a tailored 17-week trimester of Joint Maritime Operations that follows the Naval Command and Staff resident intermediate curriculum of National Security Decision Making, Strategy and Warfare. The students also completed three MAWS-directed electives on Operational Art and Doctrine, Navy Planning Process in the Joint Force Maritime Component Commander (JFMCC) Environment, and Joint Force Commander Planning Considerations.

During the final three months of the program, the students developed and authored formal concept plans in direct support of forward-deployed, naval operational commanders.

"You are in demand and you will be in demand," said Naval War College President Rear Adm. John Christenson, in a speech to graduates and their families.

This graduating class included 20 Navy officers, as well as students from other branches of service, five from the Army, four from the Air Force and three Marines.

Marine Lt. Col. Jason E. Smith was presented the Admiral Charles "Soc" Horatio McMorris Distinguished Graduate Award based upon academic achievement and ranking by students.

MAWS graduates receive a Master of Arts degree in National Security and Strategic Studies, the Naval War College diploma, Joint Professional Military Education Phase I certification, and qualification designation as operational planners.

Special Olympians due for R.I. Regatta here

More than 120 Special Olympics athletes representing Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maryland and Virginia will compete in unified sailing races on Rhodes 19 sailboats in the Special Olympics Rhode Island Regatta offshore from Coasters' Harbor Island, on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 17-18.

Races are divided into Levels 1, 2 and 3 depending on the athletes' boat handling skills. The weather is expected to be cool and breezy, perfect for sailing competition.

The Coasters' Harbor Navy Yacht Club will provide the committee boat for the races, and set up the course between the Pell Bridge and CHI.

The Surface Warfare Officer School honor guard will provide a color guard and the R.I. team, the Salty Dawgs, will lead the Parade of Athletes to the field and the recitation of the Special Olympics oath on Saturday at 9:15 a.m. Opening ceremonies will include the lighting of the Olympic flame.

Capt. Joe Voboril, Commanding Officer, Naval Station Newport, will attend and music will be provided by Navy Band Northeast's ceremonial band.

Sailing competition will begin at 10 a.m., and last until late afternoon. The annual dinner dance will be held Saturday night at St. Lucy's Church. Sailing will continue Sunday with the finals races.

The weekend will end Sunday with a cookout, followed by the awards ceremony with the presentation of medals by Capt. Stacey Pedroza, Commanding Officer, Naval Justice School; Capt. Neil Parrott, Commanding Officer, SWOSCOLCOM, and other officers and enlisted from NAVSTA tenant commands.

Closing ceremonies will be at 2 p.m.

Volunteers for the races will be provided by SWOSCOLCOM and other commands..

NAPS football, lacrosse ready for home contests

The Naval Academy Preparatory School's 2011-2012 fall athletics season kicked off in August, but the Rams' first home football and lacrosse contests are this weekend on Nimitz Field.

On Friday, Sept. 30, NAPS will host Gattaca Junior College under the lights at 7 p.m.

Oct. 8-10 is NAPS Parents Weekend and on Saturday at 2 p.m. the Rams will host Bridgton Academy on Nimitz Field.

The finale of the football season will be Saturday, Nov. 12 when NAPS hosts the Military Academy Prep School at noon for the "Little Army-Navy" matchup.

For a listing including the "away" games, see: www.usna.edu/NAPS.

All games are open to anyone with routine base access.

On Saturday, Sept. 17, at 1 p.m. the NAPS football team will host Nassau Community College of New Hampshire; and at 5 p.m. the NAPS lacrosse team will host Bridgton Academy of Maine.

Combined Federal Campaign officials, representatives of charitable organizations and recipients, and guests muster in McCoy Stadium on Labor Day with an oversized ceremonial check showing more than $1 million was donated last year.

2011 CFC launched at Pawsox game

PAWTUCKET — The Rhode Island and South-eastern Massachusetts Combined Federal Campaign (RI and SEMA CFC) kicked off its “50th anniversary” season at McCoy Stadium here on Sept. 5, Labor Day.

Established by President Kennedy in 1961, this annual solicitation of military, civilian and postal federal employees for contributions to local, national and international charitable organizations continues to be the largest and most successful workplace philanthropic fundraiser in the world.

According to Vincent Marzullo, the Local Federal Coordinating Committee chairman, federal employees in Rhode Island and Southeastern Massachusetts have given faithfully and generously to the CFC.

“In fact, during the past five years, federal donors have contributed almost $5.5 million to charitable organizations through the CFC,” he said.

It was a picture-perfect day at McCoy Stadium as thousands gathered to watch the Pawsox play one of their final games of the regular season before heading to the playoffs.

As the CFC logo flashed on the scoreboard, CFC officials, charitable organization representatives and guests paraded onto the field.

CFC officials then passed along a ceremonial check for $1,166,330 to recipient charitable organizations representing the dollars pledged in 2010 through the CFC. Of the amount raised in 2010, $500,000 was contributed by military and civilian employees at Naval Station Newport.

The celebration ended with Navy Band Northeast playing the national anthem, and the Pawsox then beat the Rochester Red Wings, 7-3.

CFC visit the CFC website at www.riandsemafc.org or call Elizabeth Comeau at the CFC office at (401) 942-2394 or CFC NAVSTA Coordinator Denise Matherne at 841-3549.

Training for volunteers will take place in Newport on Thursday, Sept. 29. Call either Comeau or Matherne for more information.

NAVSTA unveils 9/11 memorial to first responders

By BOB KREKORIAN
NAVSTA Public Affairs Staff

A memorial honoring the 343 firefighters, 60 police officers and nearly 3,000 victims of the terrorist attacks on Sept. 11, 2001, was dedicated in a ceremony last Sunday on the north lawn of Naval Station (NAVSTA) Newport's Public Safety Complex, Building 1373.

The ceremony was attended by approximately 125 guests and family members of the NAVSTA Fire and Security departments, and coincided with the commemoration of the 10th anniversary of the attacks in New York, Washington D.C. and Pennsylvania.

The focal point of the memorial is a piece of steel girder from the wreckage of the World Trade Center obtained by the Fire Department from the archives of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey. Over the last several months the site was developed and built by NAVSTA firefighters Matthew Brown, Dennis Gregory and Michael McLaughlin.

"Considering the number of firefighters who perished, the memorial gave us a good feeling they will never be forgotten," Gregory said.

Bricks from the former NAVSTA Fire Station No. 3 on Coasters' Harbor Island were used to build a footing to support the girder that sits in a small pond.

"The pond is symbolic of the country rising up from the September 11 attacks," Brown said.

A central walkway leading to the memorial was laid down using bricks from the former Fire Alarm Headquarters near Codding Point.

The inscription on the bronze plaque affixed to the top of the girder reads, 'We Will Never Forget, September 11, 2001, 10th Anniversary, 2011.' A replica of the plaque used for the ceremony included the organizational logos for NAVSTA Newport's Fire and Emergency Services, NAVSTA Newport, NAVSTA

Symbols of democracy reemphasized

By KATHY L. MacKNIGHT
NHCNE Public Affairs Officer

Senior Chief Hospital Corpsman Kimberly A. Ripoli, from Naval Health Clinic New England (NHCNE), was the keynote speaker at the 9/11 tenth anniversary ceremony held last Sunday in front of the Newport Court House at Washington Square.

The ceremony was attended by Newport firefighters, police, Artillery Company of Newport members, Mayor Steve Waluk and past mayors of the city, along with council members, state legislators and local citizens.

of the Navy, Senior Chief of democracy and what Ripoli spoke of the symbols they say to each of us.

From the Jefferson and Lincoln memorials and from the headstones at Arlington cemetery, "they can teach us much about the ideas that unite us in our diversity, the values that sustain us in times of trial, and the dream that inspires generation after generation of ordinary Americans to perform extraordinary acts of service.

"In short, they are testaments to America's commitment to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for all," she said.

HMCS Ripoli is on special assignment at NHCNE for the CNO's Navy Safe Harbor Program for the New England states, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

War College remembers colleagues lost on 9/11

By CMDR. C. McCARTHY
NWC Public Affairs Officer

The U.S. Naval War College (NWC) held a memorial ceremony Sept. 9 to honor those lost in the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001 and those who have sacrificed their lives in service to their country in the decade since.

The ceremony was attended by NWC faculty, staff, and students and Naval Station Newport personnel, in addition to nearly 250 midshipman candidates from the Naval Academy Preparatory School. Ten members of the DeConto family of Sandwich, Mass., who lost family member Capt. Gerald DeConto, were also present.

"It has been 10, fighting-back years since that day, and while no other attacks have occurred on U.S. shores, many of our friends have seen their countrymen perish at the terrorist's hand," said NWC president, Rear Adm. John N. Christenson during his opening remarks. "In this nation, increased vigilance, tightened security, and the dedication of men and women in law enforcement, homeland security, the intelligence community, and the military have provided a shield which has thus far been successful in protecting us."

"Around the globe, we and our allies have fought back," he continued. "Many of our best and brightest have made the ultimate sacrifice for us."

Retired Navy Lt. Kevin P. Shaeffer, who was working in the Navy Command Center at the Pentagon during the attack, was guest speaker for the ceremony. The Navy Command Center was destroyed by the hijacked plane's impact.

"While the memories of my 9/11 experiences are extreme, I believe our collective experiences are relative, as impacting to those who witnessed the events on TV as to those of us who were in its fiery midst," said Shaeffer, a 1994 U.S. Naval Academy graduate. "No matter where we were, our memories of that day cannot, and should not, fade."

The men and women serving in the Navy Command Center watched as the attack on the World Trade Center unfolded.

"In a flash, at [9:37 a.m.], the entire command center exploded in a gigantic fireball, and I felt myself being slammed to the deck by a massive and thunderous shock wave," Shaeffer said, as he then described being on fire and his struggle to escape the rubble.

He followed glimpses of daylight through the smoke, and his calls for help were answered when Army Sgt. 1st Class Steve Workman evacuated him.

Workman commandeered one of the first ambulances to arrive and accompanied Shaeffer to Walter Reed Army Hospital, where the initial medical evaluation gave him a 50 percent chance of survival.

Shaeffer endured second and third-degree burns over nearly 50 percent of his body, as well as severe chemical injuries to his lungs from inhaling jet fuel at the moment of impact. His long recovery was challenged by infections, cardiac arrests, and a pulmonary embolism.

"While my reflections are deeply personal and are formed by the extreme experience I endured, they go beyond that," said Shaeffer. "They are a continuum of memories marked by service and sacrifice by our nation's finest."

Held at the Patriots Memorial on the NWC campus, the ceremony paid special tribute to the three NWC students and seven alumni who were killed in the attack on the Pentagon.

Their names are inscribed on the memorial, which was dedicated in September 2002.

Newport-area chief petty officer selectees contributed to the ceremony by stating each victim's name while ringing a bell in his or her memory. They also formed an honor guard for a wreath-laying.

Information, Tickets & Travel

ITT has PPAC tickets

Rock of Ages at the Providence Performing Arts Center on Thursday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are in the first dress circle and orchestra for $30.50 each.

Rock of Ages is a rock/jukebox musical, with a book by Chris D'Arienzo, built around classic rock hits from the 1980s, especially from the famous glam metal bands of the decade. The musical features songs from Styx, Journey, Bon Jovi, Pat Benatar, Twisted Sister, Steve Perry, Poison and Asia, among other well-known rock bands.

In 1987 on the Sunset Strip, a small town girl met a big city rocker and in LA's most famous rock club, they fell in love to the greatest songs of the 80s. It's Rock of Ages, an arena-rock love story told through the mind-blowing, face-melting hits of Journey, Night Ranger, Styx, REO Speedwagon, Pat Benatar, Twisted Sister, Poison, Asia, Whitesnake and many more. Don't miss this awesomely good time about dreaming big, playing loud and partying on!

Hydrant flushing planned

Naval Station Newport (NAVSTA) has announced the schedule for annual hydrant flushing which may impact water quality. Flushing the hydrants will occur in the evening.

Residents are advised to avoid washing clothes and those with hot water tanks are advised to avoid drawing hot water during the flushing hours and until any discoloration has cleared.

Housing residents should exercise caution and check water clarity before cooking, drinking, or doing laundry.

The first areas affected will be Fort Adams on Monday, Sept. 26; and the Naval Health Clinic New England and Cloyne Court on Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Newport Life MAGAZINE

THE PICTURE:

Here's your chance to show us your Newport County – the nature, the families, the events, the seasons and life of the area. What is meaningful to you? Maybe it's a casual day at the beach or a family lobster bake. If you are a serious amateur photographer, a point-and-shooter or a beginner with a good eye, share your vision with us.

THE RULES:

Whatever you photograph is up to you. As long as it captures the spirit of any part of Newport County, is an original and has not been previously published, we'll consider it.

Shutterbug category for kids under 12.

Photos must be high quality for magazine printing. We prefer digital entries (5x7 inches at 300 dpi / +/-2MB) on disc, but will accept printed photos at least 5x7 inches.

For return of photos, enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope. In January, winners will be announced and photos will be returned by mail, so please address appropriately.

Limit three photo submissions per person.

THE JUDGES:

Newport Life Magazine staff will choose winning photographs to be published in our January/February 2012 issue.

THE DETAILS:

Mail or deliver photos with entry form to:

or email completed submission form and photos to nlmphotocontest@newportri.com

THE DEADLINE:

Submissions accepted Friday, September 2 through Friday, October 14, 2011.

Newport Life Magazine and Sherman Publishing Co., assume publication rights for submitted photos. Sherman Publishing Co. employees and professional photographers are not eligible to enter.

Professor Andrew Erickson speaks on Chinese Aerospace Power: Evolving Maritime Roles at the Naval War College Museum's Eight Bells Lecture Series last week.

Eight Bells lecture examines growth of China air power

By JOHN KENNEDY
NWC Museum Director of Outreach

The 2011-2012 season of the Eight Bells Lecture Series at the Naval War College Museum opened last week with a presentation of Chinese Aerospace Power: Evolving Maritime Roles.

Given by Professor Andrew Erickson, a co-editor with Professor Lyle Goldstein for this volume, the book is the fifth in the series, Studies in Chinese Maritime Development, published by the Naval Institute Press. This is the first book in the series, however, linking China's military aerospace and maritime capabilities.

The book is divided into six thematic sections and provides a good overview of indicators of this growing national power whose economic and military power might challenge, and even impose an "anti-access" challenge to the United States.

The first section establishes the maritime context and points to the rapid and broad-based expansion of Chinese capabilities. Although driven by a Taiwan scenario, rapid gains point to ever-expanding aviation technologies. Section two looks at roles for these increasing aerospace assets, particularly intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance. The third section then looks to prospective missions that might result from these advances.

The next two sections look at the strides made by the Chinese in cruise and ballistic missile capabilities, supported by evolving maritime doctrine. Lastly, the book discusses the implication for the United serves as the supply chief for the Constitution, and is a strong supporter of the Navy COOL program.

"When I was onboard the USS Curtis Wilbur (DDG 54), my supervisor introduced me to the Navy COOL Program," said Wiggins. I applied and tested for Hazard Analysis & Critical Control Point (HACCP), Certified Professional Food Manager (CPFM) and the Certified Food Executive (CFE) Certifications.

"The following year I was selected to Chief — I truly believe those certifications put me over the top."

The Navy COOL website provides information on how Sailors can fulfill the requirements for civilian credentials related to their ratings. The site also provides information for service members describing how to fill any gaps between Navy training with civilian credentialing requirements. Since inception, the Navy COOL program has helped Sailors obtain more than 53,000 certifications and the website has logged more than 102 million hits.

According to Terry Harris, transition assistance counselor at the Naval Air Station Pensacola Fleet and Family Support Center, the Navy COOL program is a valuable tool for Sailors transitioning into the civilian job market.

"One of the most challenging things for Sailors to communicate to civilians is their military skill-set," said Harris. "The program provides convenient certifications that translate directly into the civilian workforce."

States and its regional allies and how these emerging capabilities, challenges and intentions can be interpreted and met.

Can East Asian waters become a potential no-go zone for U.S. maritime assets, especially its aircraft carriers? This question speaks to the high-stakes political play within the global commons as conflicting interests arise.

Although China still has limitations in its aerospace capabilities, U.S. planners need to determine how best to face this ever increasing power and realize that U.S. regional power advantages have already started to disappear. There are countermeasures and steps; but, the United States cannot be complacent about Chinese anti-access capabilities.

The next Eight Bells Lecture will be Sept. 19 at noon with David Ulbrich discussing his new book, Preparing for Victory. This is the biography of Gen. Thomas Holcomb, Commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps from 1936 – 1943. Gen. Holcomb was a combat veteran, progressive manager, politician and a visionary. He was the right man in the right place to prepare the Marine Corps for its expansion into the elite amphibious fighting force it became in World War II.

Lectures are held on the second floor of the museum and last about an hour. Events are open to the public. Brown bag lunches are welcome.

Those without normal base access must call the museum at least one work day in advance at 841-2101 to make reservations.

Memorial

Police, the National Ensign, and a Pentagon drawing. Inscribed on the plaque will be a panoramic view of the Manhattan skyline and the WTC towers.

"Ten years ago it was pretty clear what most of America's public emergency service professionals stood for," said guest speaker Capt. Joe Voboril, Commanding Officer, NAVSTA Newport. We ask these men and women to protect us, to serve us, to save us, he said.

"Think about that number, 343," he said. Can you name one of the first responders? he asked. Voboril retold the story of New York firefighter Ray York who suffered an earlier injury and couldn't respond to the call for help from other responders at the WTC.

Later, when York heard what had happened, he rushed to help his fellow firefighters, but died amid the falling debris from the second tower.

Voboril challenged the audience to pick a name from amongst the 343 first responders who died at the World Trade Center and learn something about them.

Other parts of the memorial include a bright red fire hydrant that was donated by a local fire department, a connecting line of hose, and a deck gun water monitor that was retained from a 1983 Pierce pumper fire apparatus, Engine #6, that the department formerly owned.

Two ship anchors, a ship's bell, and a flagpole also mark the site. A local construction company donated mulch, loam and sand.

"Although it cannot be determined exactly where this piece of steel was located at Ground Zero, one has to pause for a moment and wonder what floor this may have come from and who worked there," said Fire Chief Tim Kerrigan in his dedication remarks.

"Now this hallowed artifact from such a dark day in our history will serve as a constant reminder that it still has the strength to support an American spirit that will never be broken," he said.

Following the unveiling by Brown and Gregory, McLaughlin rang the bell in a 3-4-3 sequence to honor the firefighters who died

10 years ago.

McLaughlin, who was a junior at Foxboro High School in 2001, said the memorial was symbolic of the department's pride. "It started with a willingness to do something for the victims," he said. Eventually the site was expanded to include a flower garden, he said.

An open house and tours of the complex and an informal luncheon followed.

Explosive Ordnance Disposal (EOD) Mobile Unit 12, Detachment Newport, provided a static display of EOD equipment and the unit's Emergency Response Vehicle.

A 10th anniversary Flag of Honor listing all the victims of the terrorist attacks was on display at the ceremony. The Naval War College color guard paraded the colors. Navy Band Northeast's brass quintet played the national anthem, and a bugler played "Taps."

Fire captain Scott Brown read the Fireman's Prayer, followed by NAVSTA Policewoman Marie Duval who read the Police Officer's Creed.

Guests included retired NAVSTA firefighters Jim Tynan and Bill McCollum, and Middletown Chief of Police Anthony Pesare.

Junior officers aboard the guided missile destroyer Spruance (DDG-111) look through a photo album of the ship's namesake, Admiral Raymond Spruance, aboard the ship while it was at Naval Station Newport's Pier 2 last week. In the album are images of Spruance as a junior officer aboard the battleship USS Minnesota while deployed around the world with the Great White Fleet. At the time the photos were taken, Spruance would've been about the same rank and age of these junior officers. PCU Spruance left last week for commissioning on Oct. 1 in Key West, Fla.
